

30 Donor Alert Ministries of 2008

MinistryWatch.com in its role as a donor advocate developed this format to highlight a sampling of ministries with issues important to donors, such as being non-transparent, high salaries, misleading marketing efforts, revocation of tax-exempt status, ties to cultic practices, investigations under way, and more. Any one ministry does not necessarily cover all these issues as there is a wide spectrum of issues. Most donors expect charitable organizations to act on behalf of others and not for greed, personal aggrandizement, or other reasons; however, ministries are operated by human beings who are subject to the shortcomings common to man, including what some may call the "principle of ethical entropy", or as Christians call it, sin. Donors do not always have the power or know-how to pursue accountability; however, each donor can do their part by making an informed giving decision by looking at various factors and issues.

No one is able to give to every ministry that one values as we are not possessed of unlimited resources. It is best to make an assessment of our options and make discerning decisions. When making that assessment, we came across both the good practices and those operations less than ideal for donors. MinistryWatch.com's assessment looked at the following seven areas when considering this list of 30:

(1) Transparency, (2) Truth Claims, (3) Values, (4) Sampling of Issues, (5) Resourcefulness, (6) Red Flag Issues, (7) Consultation.

A fuller explanation of our evaluation criteria is on page five. We commend donors for assessing various factors in making giving decisions. Our list here may not be part of your criteria. At a minimum, we hope that you become informed and give your limited resources where you think they will be used best.

Angel Food Ministries

High Salaries

Angel Food Ministries is marketing to help individuals that are on the low economic side of the scale and in "need"; however, the leadership for the organization has higher salaries than the norm. In addition, the higher salaries consist of the leadership of individuals that are related. This is just for the known year of 2006, it is unknown of the more current years.

1. Wesley J. Wingo: $588,529
2. Linda Wingo: $544,043
3. Andrew Wingo: $529,014
4. Wesley Wingo: $454,673
5. L.M. Wingo: $384,694

Benny Hinn/ World Healing Center Church

Senate Investigation

Senator Chuck Grassley, ranking member of the Committee on Finance, has asked this organization for information regarding expenses, executive compensation, and amenities given to executives. The inquiry is part of Grassley's long-standing interest in making sure tax-exempt organizations are accountable to donors. The investigation is because of complaints from the public and news coverage. Grassley said in part, "People who donated should have their money spent as intended and in adherence with the tax code." Senator Grassley has asked:

1. 5 General Questions
2. 8 Executive Compensation Questions
3. 4 Real and Personal Assets Questions
4. 11 Other/Miscellaneous Questions

Bishop Eddie Long/ New Birth Missionary Baptist

1. 6 General Questions
2. 10 Executive Compensation Questions
3. 3 Real and Personal Assets Questions
4. 14 Other/Miscellaneous Questions

Breakthrough Ministries/ Rod Parsley

Transparency Grade of 'F'

This ministry does not post their audited financial statements on a website and based on MinistryWatch.com's request for basic information, nor would they give any to MinistryWatch.com. Without information donors cannot make optimal decisions. Understand what it is you are going to support. Ministries that are not open in providing basic information are obstructing prudent donors in understanding. In addition, Ministries are seen by many as teachers and ones with authority. What are these ministries teaching by their example? Are others to follow their example? What would the nonprofit sector look like if they all followed the example of a closed shop? Are not Christians to be light in a world of darkness? Should not Christians set the standard by their conduct?

Chaim Ministries, Inc.

IRS Revocation

- The Internal Revenue Service has revoked this organizations 501(c)(3) and 170(c)(2) Internal Revenue Code section determination. This information is according to IRS Announcement 2008-79, 2008-35 I.R.B., dated September 2, 2008, page 568.
- If you have given a donation to this organization, check with you tax preparer for those implications.
- Just because an organization is legally formed and uses the term "ministry", or "church" in its name does not mean that it is tax-exempt and donors can get a tax deduction. Examine the truth claims. Truth is synchronized with fact and reality, not just a gut feeling and mere belief.

Christian Children's Fund (CCF)

Not Christian

- Does not adhere to an Evangelical Statement of Faith or Doctrinal Statement.
- CCF does not attempt to proclaim a Gospel message to children.
- Argued it is not Christian so that it could avoid placement in the Ministry-Watch.com database. More recently, it has argued that it is indeed a Christian organization because of the good works they do for children.
- Not a member of the ECFA, explaining, "...we are not an evangelical organization in that we do not teach religion as part of our program activity and we do not try to convert program beneficiaries as part of our program efforts."
- CCF employees need not be Christian.

Creflo Dollar Ministries

Senate Investigation

Senator Chuck Grassley, ranking member of the Committee on Finance, has asked this organization for information regarding expenses, executive compensation, and amenities given to executives. Family Care Foundation (FCF)

Cultic Ties

Connection with The Family aka The Children of God: James Chancellor, Professor of World Religions and Christian Missions at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, interviewed more than seven hundred members from the cult "Family" members, and had access to Family records. It's founder Moses David (David Berg) preached free sex, prostitution to raise funds, suggested sex with children was OK, said he was the end time prophet, spoke to spirit helpers and encouraged the division of families. Its leadership now taken up by others. "The radical, revolutionary Children of God"...in January of 1997, Family leadership and several nonmember supporters established the Family Care Foundation as a 501(c)(3)"... "The Family Care Foundation (FCF) channels funds and support to Family missionaries and humanitarian projects around the world"... (Life in The Family, James D. Chancellor, 2000 by Syracuse University Press, pages 247, 248)

Unsubstantiated claims of "healings" by Mr. Jenkins, his refusal to answer questions or consent to an interview, the unexplained moving of his church from Ohio to Arizona, and other issues that all point to a church that is clearly not transparent and to an individual that is potentially fraudulent in his claims and appeals.

Tony Alamo Christian Ministries

Investigation

Tony Alamo who heads Tony Alamo Christian Ministries, has been arrested and pleaded not guilty to 10 federal counts that accuse him of violating the Mann Act, a federal law that bans carrying women or girls across state lines for "prostitution or debauchery, or for any other immoral purpose." Thirty-two juveniles associated with Alamo have been taken into protective custody since a Sept. 20, 2008 raid on his compound. Alamo was arrested in Arizona five days after the raid. Before the raid, FBI agent M. Randall Harris filed an affidavit describing information he said he received in interviews with three girls who had lived at the compound and from a confidential informant. A good source of articles covering the situation is at the following Internet link:

World-Wide Missions (WWM)

Violations of ECFA Standards

WWM has not provided any financial information to MinistryWatch.com since 2004. Changed and longer files an IRS form 990. WWM was once a member of the Evangelical Council for Financial Accountability (ECFA); however, as of 9/25/2007 the ECFA indicates that WWM... "Voluntary resignation in response to the field review where violations of Standards 2, 3, 4, and 7.8 were discovered."

Violations of the ECFA

- Standard 7.8 - Tax-deductible Gifts for a Named Recipient's Personal Benefit ("Tax-deductible gifts may not be used to pass money or benefits to any named individual for personal use.")
- Standard 4 - Use of Resources
- Standard 3 - Financial Statements
- Standard 2 - Board of Directors and Financial Oversight

General Evaluation Criteria

Information was evaluated from approximately the fall of 2007 to the fall of 2008; however, there was not a hard and fast evaluation date. The following are some of the reasons organizations would make the list. Any one point could be a reason for inclusion.

(1) Transparency

- ◆ Ministries with a lack of openness and transparency were included
- ◆ Organizations with a trend of pushing emotional buttons in a hard sales approach in fundraising persuasion were included
- ◆ Any indication of an organization obscuring critical information from scrutiny was included

(2) Truth Claims

- ◆ Any organization listed as a "ministry" or church, but did not have IRS tax-exemption or recognition for donations as tax-deductible to the fullest extent of the law was included
- ◆ Any organization with indications of a problem with their IRS tax-exempt status would be included
- ◆ Any organization that had a matter of fact in dispute (from a credible source), about what they have said, or actually do, would be included

(3) Values

- ◆ Ministries that were ashamed of being identified as an evangelical Christian ministry were included
- ◆ Any organization that may hedge on its "Christian" identity would be included
- ◆ Any organization that appeared to be "Christian" in name only, or was just marketing to Christians as a market segment for "Christian donor money", but did not have theological underpinnings and Biblical values that determined their actions was included
- ◆ Organizations that relied more on a secular motivation and means were included as well as those "ministries" that seem to view the organization as their own vehicle as a business to make money rather than a love to maximize ministry to others
- ◆ Any organization with real controversial extra-Biblical dogmas would be included
- ◆ Any organization that may waver on a pro-life stance would be included

(4) Issues

- ◆ A factor also included getting a sampling of various issues, such as being non-transparent, high salaries, misleading marketing efforts, revocation of tax-exempt status, abusive practices, investigations under way, etc.

(5) Resourcefulness

- ◆ Ministries that seemed enamored with riches and where not maximizing the ministry at every opportunity were included
- ◆ Any ministry with an overly complicated organization structure with lots of separate entities, that resulted in more than one salary for the same people, and that was difficult to understand would be included
- ◆ Any organization that looked like a perpetual foundation that could live on investments for years might be included
- ◆ Any organization that looked like it was more talk than actually doing things would be included
- ◆ A low MinistryWatch.com Financial Efficiency Rating was not a driving factor for inclusion on this particular list; however, this was for the most part a mute point as many are not open and transparent and it is not possible to obtain a rating, as well as some having multiple organizations and again it is not possible to fully understand all the relationships for a rating

(6) Red Flag Issues

- ◆ Any unexplained odd aspects of a ministry would be reason to include it

(7) Consultation

- ◆ There could not be any critical internal disagreement among those familiar with the ministries for not including it
